

HOUSE FINANCE
BOD TO MEET
NEXT SATURDAY

All-Day Session To Accomplish Work Heretofore Requiring Weeks, Barrett Declares.

PRECEDENT SET
BY HOLIDAY MEET

Chairman Pleads for Full Attendance To Hear Requests of Heads of State Institutions.

Voting unanimously to hold an all-day session beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the house committee on appropriations Tuesday afternoon smashed two precedents of the Georgia legislature. According to half a dozen veteran members of the assembly, this will be the first time in the history of Georgia's legislature that a committee hearing has been held on a Saturday, or that an entire day has been devoted to one continuous committee meeting.

Saturday will be set aside by the committee for a public hearing on financial needs of various state departments and state supported institutions, and all heads of these institutions who wish to come before the committee on behalf of increased appropriations, whether contained in the general appropriations bill or in special bills, are invited to appear when the committee meets Saturday morning.

One special appropriation bill was considered and reported favorably by unanimous vote at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the committee, the bill calling for an appropriation of $105,000 to the State College for Women at Milledgeville for new buildings to take the place of the fire last December. Consideration of all other bills, including the general appropriation bill, was postponed until the next meeting of the committee, which is scheduled for Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Neill Calls for Action.

The meeting Tuesday afternoon was unusual also by reason of the fact that presiding officers of both houses of the assembly, Speaker W. Cecil Neill, of the house, and President J. Howard Ennis, of the senate, appeared and spoke. Speaker Neill urged the quickest possible action on the general appropriations bill. He stated that passage of this bill through both houses before largely determining whether the session would wind up "decently and in order, certainly by 6 or 7 o'clock on the last day, and possibly, several days short of the constitutional limitation of 60 days," or whether "the citizens of the state would again be given grounds to criticize the legislature because of the final act of legislation on the last day and night, with the fate of the appropriations bill in doubt until the last minute."

Previous to Speaker Neill's appeal, Representative Ferner Barrett, of Stephens, chairman of the committee, pointed out that in addition to the general appropriations bill, 50 bills calling for special appropriations have already been introduced in the house and await the committee's consideration.

These bills, the chairman said, call for a total of approximately $21,000,000, while the estimated state revenue for 1925 which the committee will have to apportion, is only approximately $10,500,000, or half the amount asked. Mr. Barrett suggested

RAILROAD RATES
ORDERED PROBED

Western Schedules Will Be First Investigated by Commission—Hearing Set for September.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—An inquiry into the sufficiency of western railroad earnings was undertaken today by the interstate commerce commission.

Railroads operating west of Chicago were ordered to be prepared by September 1 to present to hearing before Chairman Atchison in that city data as to their revenues and traffic, while shippers and communities concerned were notified of opportunity to contest the carriers' expected demand for rate increases under the commission acted under the Hoch-Smith resolution by which Congress directed it to investigate the general rate structure of the United States and in the light of a railroad petition which declared that western carriers were in a precarious condition and were "in need of immediate increase in revenues."

Issues Are Outlined.

The commission decided it should first deal with the western district for these reasons.

SEEKS U. S. ENTRY INTO WORLD COURT

Outlawry of War Chief Proviso in Plan Offered by 26 Leading Advocates of Judiciary.

SENATE TO GET NEW PROPOSAL

Method of American Entry Now Sought Opposes Previous Suggestions To Administration.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, July 14.—Certain advocates of the world court, who have been working quietly for months, have come forward with a compromise plan for United States entry which they will push between now and the time the administration proposal is brought up in the senate in December. The compromise has been hooked up, in its conditions, with President Coolidge's proposed conference on limitation of armament.

It provides for entry under the administration protocol, but with the understanding that the United States would withdraw from the court after a specified period if the nations of Europe do not join in a general conference for outlawry of war, and draft and execute a treaty providing for the outlawry of war.

The compromise plan is signed by 26 leading advocates of the world court, who have hitherto disagreed as to the method of entry, several of the signers have stoutly opposed the Harding-Hughes protocol pushed by the administration, whose acceptance they now advocate on the terms outlined.

Follows Coolidge Proposal.

The movement is hooked up with President Coolidge's proposed disarmament conference through appeals sent out by advocates of outlawry of war, and through letters to Coolidge, that outlawry of war be included in the agenda of the disarmament conference.

Thus, if the disarmament conference set out to outlaw war, this would meet the condition for the United States remaining in the court provided entry were approved on the compromise plan.

Among the signers of the compromise plan are John H. Clarke, former associate justice of the supreme court, now president of the League of Nations Non-Partisan assembly; Raymond Robbins, judge Julian W. Mack, U. S. circuit court; Bishop Charles H. Brent, Justice Florence E. Allen, Ohio supreme court; Norman Thomas, director of the League for Industrial Democracy; Herbert Croly, editor of The New Republic; Professor James T. Shotwell, director Carnegie endowment for international peace and co-author of the American States remaining in the court; and submitted to the league of nations assembly at Geneva last September.

Anti-War Move Stressed.

Samuel Colcord, leader in the movement to outlaw war, says that the compromise world court plan and the campaign for outlawry of war are not connected but says that the newest world court idea has been "influenced" by the outlawry of war drive.

In literature sent out to speakers and campaigners, Colcord urges that the "one vital thing to do" is to get outlawry of war into the agenda of the proposed disarmament conference. Under the compromise world court plan, this country would be authorized to withdraw after two years if the European nations had failed to join in a conference for outlawry of war, and its membership would terminate automatically after five years if no treaty had been executed providing outlawry of war.

Cowboy-Actor Willing To Go Back to Oklahoma and Vote for Himself.

Bartlesville, Okla., July 14.—(AP)—Will Rogers, Broadway cowboy-actor, says he has not voted in Oklahoma for years, but that he will be glad to come back and vote for himself if he is entered next year in the race for governor.

In a telegram today to J. S. Leach, editor of the Bartlesville Enterprise, referring to a report that he was being "boomed" for governor, Rogers said: "I haven't voted in Oklahoma for years because you never had the right man up for me to vote for. Put me up for it, or send me how quick I'll come and vote for myself. That's what Bryan used to do and look where he is today. If any campaign funds have been raised, kindly send some on now. I have a few dollars here in New York I can bring out with me. Yours for a better governor's mansion."

Body of Miss Ruth Jackson Is Found in Apartment by Detectives and Mrs. I. J. Pohl.

SKULL OF WOMAN
CRUSHED BY BLOW

Ruby and E. D. Kirbow Held Pending Investigation—Police Are Seeking Charlie Carr.

Her skull crushed by a blow evidently dealt with a whisky bottle, the body of Miss Ruth Jackson, 23, of 45 West Harris street, was found in bed at 164 Courtland street Tuesday night by police and a friend of the slain woman.

Detectives W. D. McGee and D. E. Moon, who are investigating the case, expressed belief that the victim had been dead for approximately eight hours. The apartment was the home of Charlie Carr and another man whose name was not learned.

Ruby Kirbow, and E. D. Kirbow, of 110 Ivy street, were held Tuesday night on a blanket charge of suspicion in connection with the killing, and the police are seeking Carr, the tenant of the apartment in which the woman's body was found and described as a lover of the dead woman.

The Kirbows were with Miss Jackson and Carr at a party on Ivy street Monday night, and they told police that the couple left the party together. The Kirbows are held pending completion of the investigation.

The body of the dead woman was found scantily clad, sprawled across a bed by Mrs. I. J. Pohl, who says she is an intimate friend of Miss Jackson and who lived with her at 45 West Harris street. Glass scattered on the bed and indications of a crushing blow on the dead woman's head led police to decide that death was due to wounds inflicted with a whisky bottle.

A woman giving the name of Mrs. Parker, who lived over the apartment in which the slaying was committed, told Detectives McGee and Moon that she had seen a young man enter the room with Miss Jackson Monday night, but she declared that the man was a stranger to her.

"Pursued by Carr."

Mrs. Pohl told newspapermen that the dead woman had been pursued for months by Charlie Carr.

"On July 6," Mrs. Pohl said, "this man tried to cut Miss Jackson's throat in a kitchenette at 45 West Harris street."

"He was frightened away when police were summoned and they have been on the lookout for him ever since. Prior to this incident he had constantly worried Miss Jackson with his attentions and had worried her on several occasions."

Mrs. Pohl said that Monday night Miss Jackson received a telephone call to come to "a party on Ivy street."

"She left for this party," Mrs. Pohl stated, "and that's the last time I saw her alive."

EDUCATION BILL
CAUSE OF CLASH

Fight Starts When Senator Maddox Proposes Changes in Election of School Superintendent.

After acting favorably on seven bills affecting the educational system of the state, the educational committee of the Georgia senate Tuesday night ended the session with a storm of debate precipitated by a bill proposing a local-option educational unit system.

The clash began when debate on the measure was opened by Senator A. K. Maddox, of the 26th, who read the measure which he introduced and sponsored. Several of those present objected to a provision of the bill calling for election of the county school superintendent by the county board of education and contention centered about this objection.

Provisions of Bill.

The bill provides for election of the school board by popular vote instead of by the grand juries as is now the case in most Georgia counties. The two candidates for membership on the board receiving the highest number of votes would hold their offices for six years, the next two for four years and the lowest two for two years. They in turn would elect a superintendent for a term of four years.

Mr. Maddox, as author of the bill,

STATE SOLONS
TO MAKE TOUR OF INSTITUTIONS

Adjournment From Thursday to Monday Is Planned To Give Time for Inspection.

VOTE ON VIADUCTS
SCHEDULED TODAY

No Action Is Taken on Matter at End of Lengthy Debate in House Tuesday.

A joint resolution providing that both houses of the general assembly shall adjourn from Thursday until Monday will be introduced in both houses when they meet this morning, it became known Tuesday night. The purpose of the three-day adjournment would be to allow committees on state institutions to make their inspection visits to these places on Friday and Saturday of this week and thus quickly dispose of this duty so that the committees may be in position to make recommendations as to management and appropriations.

Among institutions which are scheduled for committee visits are the University of Georgia, state sanitarium at Milledgeville, state penitentiary at Milledgeville, school for the deaf at Cave Spring, school for the blind at Macon and the anti-tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto.

Proponents of the adjournment proposal point out that for the past two years committees have not made these visits and in view of the fact that after this year there will be no further sessions of the legislature until 1927, it is practically essential that these visits be made during the present session.

Viaducts Debated.

The house consumed its entire time Tuesday with consideration of the Atlanta viaducts resolution. Coming over as unfinished business from Monday, the debate was still in progress when a motion to adjourn was adopted at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. It is expected, however, that final vote on the measure will be reached this morning after one or two additional speeches have been made for and against the proposal.

After routine preliminaries were disposed of Tuesday morning and 25 new bills had been introduced, the house plunged directly into discussion of the viaducts matter. Six or seven amendments were offered and authors of all spoke at length in their support.

The first amendment offered was by Representative Milner, of Dodge. This amendment would provide that in case of construction of a new terminal by the present lessees of the Western & Atlantic railroad, the cost of such construction should not be chargeable against the $60,000 the lessees are required to expend annually for additions and betterment.

Debate on the various amendments was heated. Representative Milner, in explaining his amendment, declared that this was the most important bill of the session. Referring to what he called "members of the third house," Mr. Milner declared that "when I see them gather here, from Bibb, Chat-ham and other points, button-holing members of the legislature in hotel lobbies and lobbies of the capitol, I assume that a watermelon is to be cut."

Other members, among them Representative Boswell, of Greene, discussed the resolution and the proposed amendment. Mr. Boswell declared that the city of Atlanta was a big taxpayer to the state and for that reason should have consideration.

One of the amendments offered would prohibit the city of Atlanta from granting street railway franchises for use of the proposed viaducts. Another amendment brought over from Monday would require the city of Atlanta to pay the state $200,000 for the viaducts' rights.

Still another amendment, offered by Representative Jones, of Meriwether, and others, designed to further safeguard the interest of the Season's Prize Fish Story;

WATER TANK ON LOCOMOTIVE HOME OF FISH
Carp Falls From Engine Pipe

Hawkinsville, Ga., July 14.—(Special.)—H. L. Nelson, local agent of the Southern railway at this place, comes forward with the master fish story of the season and the best part of it, it is true and has been verified by many here, and the incident was witnessed by several who happened to be on hand at the time.

Mr. Nelson says that it recently became necessary to clean out the water tender attached to a Wrightsville & Tennille locomotive that has been making this run for several years and the drain pipe at the bottom of the water tank on the engine was opened to let the water out. The water ran out freely for some time, when suddenly the flow seemed clogged and finally opened up again at full tilt, when a fish 10 inches long came through the drain, and upon investigation proved to be a carp such as are plentiful in the river here.

This tender had not been cleaned out in several years and it is thought the carp might have been around two years old, and the only way that it is thought the fish could have gotten in the tank was it might have been drawn up through the pumps into the engine tank while it was small, as the railroad engines use water pumped from the river at this point.

The crowd standing around was greatly surprised when the carp fell fluttering to the ground and it is thereby claimed to be the only dyed-in-the-wool truthful fish tale of its kind on record.

The fish is supposed to have lived on trash and sediments that accumulated in the tender, Lawyer Declares Court Is Turned Into Meeting House—No Objection Made to Private Prayer.

JUDGE OVERRULES
CHICAGO LAWYER

Intense Excitement Aroused at Evolution Trial by Unexpected Request of Defense Lawyer.

Courtroom, Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Objection by Clarence Darrow, of defense counsel, to the daily custom of opening court with prayer created intense excitement for a few minutes this morning. Judge Raulston, presiding, overruled the objection.

Soon after Judge Raulston mounted the bench Darrow stepped forward to say:

"I want to protest, your honor, at prayer being offered here daily in the presence of the jury in this case."

The defense lawyer continued, "I do not object to anyone praying in private, but I do object to this court being turned into a meeting house."

Malone Protests Also.

Dudley Field Malone was just behind his colleague with an inquiry to the judge if it had always been the custom to have prayer in court every day.

"As a member of counsel for the defense, who is not an agnostic," he said, "I desire to add my objection to daily prayer being offered here when it has not been an exacting and unbroken custom in the past."

"I have every respect for what Mr. Darrow believes and does not believe," said the New York attorney. "We have talked this thing over in our chambers and believe that the opening with prayer is prejudicial to the interests of the defendant. Most of the prayers offered by ministers so far have been largely argumentative."

"We hold that this practice creates a religious atmosphere here which is harmful to our cause. Will the court say if this has been the practice here without exception?"

Counsel In Quick Clash.

Attorney General Stewart rose to say that "this is a God-fearing community and we are accustomed to pray around here. It is the usual thing in this part of the country."

"And I would have you know," Mr. Malone broke in vehemently, "that they are just as God-fearing where I come from as they are anywhere."

"I am glad to know it,"

TEN HIGH SCHOOL

TODAY AT TRIAL

Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—(AP)—Ten small-town high school lads are scheduled to leap from obscurity into the spotlight of nationwide publicity tomorrow, when they climb into the witness chair of the Rhea county courthouse and tell the jury about John T. Scopes, who was their science teacher.

The boys who have been summoned to testify for the state in the Tennessee evolution trial are:

Harry Shelton, Orville Gannaway, Charles Stokely, Greg Kyle, Clem Elson, Morris Stout, James Benson, Howard Morgan, Richard Gill and Ross Cumynham.

Swampscott, Mass., July 14.—(AP)—President Coolidge hopes that conditions will be such that a conference can be held in the near future for a discussion of extra-territorial rights in China, as well as Chinese customs.

The efforts of the American government to bring about such a conference, it was stated today at the summer white house, are confined to an attempt to have the nine nations signatory to the Washington treaty participate and the United States has not entered into an agreement with Great Britain and Japan with regard to China.

It was reiterated that the United States was seeking solely to have the Washington treaty obligations to China carried out on the one hand and to secure from China protection for lives and property of foreigners on the other.

The statement was made that there was no basis whatever for the published report from Tokyo that the United States in reaching an agreement with Great Britain and Japan had agreed to indefinite postponement of the conference on extra-territoriality.

Air Photograph Is Snapped
NEW PROCESS TO REVOLUTIONIZE WAR PHOTOGRAPHY
And Printed in Nine Minutes

Rochester, N. Y., July 14.—Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., chairman of the senate military affairs committee, witnessed a demonstration of the value of the air service today when two aviators, in an army photographic plane, circled about his home at Genesee and nine minutes later dropped photographic prints of his residence on his front lawn.

The two aviators, Lieutenant George W. Goddard, of the army air service, and Dr. S. M. Burk, government physicist, both stationed at the Dayton, Ohio, experimental field, are now in this city conducting experiments on a new photographic process. Among the developments under trial are several new types of photographic emulsions, which make possible the developing and printing of photographs during flight in 5 to 10 minutes after the shutter of the camera is snapped. The process is expected to revolutionize wartime photography.

Today's tests were made with a new film manufactured by the Eastman Kodak company, which, after removal from the camera and developing, throws a positive print. It requires no printing.

Similar tests were made yesterday on a negative and a positive film. Prints were secured by this method in five minutes after the time of exposure.

NEW PAROLE LAW
REPORTS DENIED
BY PEN WARDEN

Washington Reports Say That One-Year Prisoners Are Eligible After 4 Months' Service.

One federal prisoner serving terms of one year are not eligible for parole until they have served six months, according to the law, and Washington reports to the effect that such parole applications are now being considered after four months service are erroneous, according to Warden John W. Snook.

"We are not allowing the fact of crowded conditions in the prison here to enter into the granting of paroles," Warden Snook said. "We are proceeding in these cases, exactly as though we had but 1,000 prisoners in the penitentiary."

The federal parole board finished its work at noon Tuesday after considering 214 applications for parole. Luther C. White, superintendent of federal prisons, who attended sessions of the parole board, will leave this morning for Washington.

WASHINGTON EXPEDITES
ACTION ON PAROLES.

Washington, July 14.—(Special.)—Owing to crowded conditions in the federal penitentiaries at Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil's Island, department of justice officials have begun expediting action on paroles to make room for new prisoners.

Convicts serving sentences of a year, who ordinarily would not be paroled in less than six months, are being freed on parole in four months. Like action is being taken with respect to prisoners sent up for longer terms.

Officers against the prohibition law are crowding the federal prisons, according to department of justice officials. The immediate cause of the congestion was said to be an order issued by former Attorney General Stone, directing a clean-up of dockets in arrears. With the improvement of the dockets in many districts, the de-

HOLDS UP DECISION

Announcement of Findings Will Be Made by Judge When Court Convenes This Morning.

PRAYER PROTEST
STIRS SQUABBLE

Defense Lawyers Ask Jews and Catholics Open Court as Well as Fundamentalist Protestants.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

United News Staff Correspondent.

Dayton, Tenn., July 15.—One session crowded on another in a succession of exciting court scenes Tuesday, culminating when Judge Raulston held up his ruling on the defense motion to quash the indictment because of premature newspaper reports carried by the International News Service.

Judge Raulston became indignant when he learned that dispatches purporting to reveal his decision had been sent from here and he announced that any one obtaining his decision by improper means was in contempt of court. He appointed a committee of newspaper correspondents to investigate the incident and report to him.

Predictions were freely made to-night by spectators at the trial that Judge Raulston will overrule in the morning, when court opens, the motion of the defense to quash the indictment against Scopes, and that he will order trial of the case to proceed immediately.

Attorneys in Hot Tilt.

Opposing attorneys almost came to blows over an attempt by Arthur Garfield Hays, of the defense, to prevail on the court to invite ministers of the Jewish and Catholic faiths, as well as fundamentalist Protestants, in opening court.

This petition was the outgrowth of a surprise move by Clarence Darrow who protested against the opening prayers when court convened Tuesday.

Just before court adjourned, Arthur Garfield of the defense read a petition signed by ministers of various faiths asking the judge to select officiating clergymen alternately from among other than fundamentalist churches. This practice is followed in national political conventions.

Prayer Petition.

"We beg you to consider the fact that among the persons intimately connected with and actively participating in this trial of Dr. John T. Scopes, there are many to whom the prayers of fundamentalists are not spiritually uplifting and are occasionally offensive. Inasmuch as by your own ruling all the people in the courtroom are required to participate in the prayers by rising, it seems to us only just and right that we should occasionally hear a prayer which requires no mental reservation on our part and in which we can conscientiously participate."

The petition was signed by Rev.

Ennis 'Lays Down the Law' Regarding Senate Business

"This senate is going down in the history of Georgia legislatures as the most outstanding business session in Georgia history," declared President Howard Ennis, of the senate, Tuesday in warning the members of the senate that he would enforce to the letter the rules of the senate.

"There are rules for the government of this body," he said, "and the chair means to enforce them. They were designed to facilitate transaction of business and for maintenance of discipline. I want to remind one and all, in all firmness and in all kindness, that there is a rule which requires the chair to recognize only those senators who are at their assigned seats."

"In the future the chair will recognize and enforce this rule. If he should by accident or ignorance recognize a senator who is not in his assigned position, the chair will welcome from any quarter on the floor a reminder of this fact and will quickly correct the mistake."

"Furthermore, all the confusion around doors to the senate chamber with which we have had to contend for the past few days, must cease immediately. Any further evidence of it will force the chair to order the chamber cleared of those members and the doors barred to visitors. We have business to transact here, the important business of the state of Georgia, and only a limited time in which to do it. To accomplish this purpose we must concentrate deeply at all times and this cannot be done in company with confusion."

President Ennis also warned that the floor must be cleared of those who are not members or who have not been extended the privileges of the floor. Casual visitors, he indicated, must confine themselves to the galleries and if they would converse they must take their conversation to the corridors.

President Ennis' talk drew profound attention and following its delivery which was just prior to adjournment, expressions of approval over his firm stand were heard on all sides.

This warning comes on the heels of one issued last week by Speaker W. Cecil Neill of the house in which representatives were told that unless they buckled down to business he would be forced to call Saturday sessions in order to get through with the business.

Mr. Neill was hitting primarily at those who have been absenting themselves from Friday sessions and Monday sessions in order to give them more time at home over the week-end. The practical effect has been that on Mondays and Fridays it has been difficult to muster a quorum in the house, it is pointed out.

Concrete results of Speaker Neill's pronouncement were observed Monday when virtually the entire house responded to the roll call.

With these two "layings down of the law," it is believed the legislature will now "throw" or "into high" and go speeding along through the session with a possible effect of obviating the usual "last day jam."

VALDOSTA PASTOR WILL FILL PULPIT FOR DR. BRICKER

During the absence of Dr. L. O. Bricker, who is spending his vacation at Asheville, N. C., the pulpit of Peachtree Street Christian church will be filled by the Rev. Richard Wallace, pastor of the First Christian church, Valdosta.

His first service will be at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the auditorium of the Woman's club where services are being held during construction of the new church at the corner of Peachtree road and Spring street.

Rev. Wallace is a prominent figure in the civic as well as religious life of Valdosta. He is a past president of the Rotary club, of Valdosta, and is chaplain of the Valdosta post of the American Legion.

CITY ADVERTISING PLANS TO BE LAID AT EARLY SESSION

A meeting will be held at the chamber of commerce within the next two weeks to discuss the question of advertising Atlanta in neighboring states, according to announcement Tuesday by B. S. Barker, executive secretary of the chamber.

Signboards inviting residents of other cities to visit Atlanta will be erected along principal highways in adjoining states which lead into Georgia, it plans which are now being formulated are approved by those who attend the meeting. It is also planning to place signboards at the Miami, Fla., to advertise Atlanta's prosperity.

Miss Edith Moore, of the Municipal Light Opera company, sang several numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. George Hinnant at the piano. Harry Cooper rendered several piano selections.

AMENDMENT PROJECTS GET PUBLIC HEARING

Public hearings on two important measures now pending in the general assembly were held Tuesday afternoon at a joint session of the constitutional amendments committee of the house and senate. One bill, introduced by Representative Bussey, of Crisp, is to authorize Crisp county to issue $1,250,000 in bonds for acquisition and development of water power properties. A large delegation from Crisp county appeared before the committee.

Action will be taken later at separate meetings of the two committees.

The second bill, which was supported by a delegation of the Georgia Bar association, is intended to take the selection of judges in this state out of politics. It was drawn up by a special committee of the bar association after several years of careful study of the methods of filling vacancies on the bench in this and other states, and while its proponents admit it may not be perfect, they contend that it provides a far better system of selecting judges than the system of election at the polls.

Justices of the supreme court and judges of the court of appeals and of superior courts are affected under provisions of the bill. The plan is said to have the support of a majority of members of the bar of the state, both association members and others. As outlined by the special committee of the association which drew up the bill the plan provides:

Terms of Office. The term of office of all judges shall be fixed at six years. Those in office at the time of the constitutional amendment will automatically become the first incumbents of these positions, but with the provision that the supreme court justices and judges of the court of appeals shall occupy terms to expire as fixed by law for the terms held.

On expiration of the term of office of any justice or judge an issue shall be voted on in the general election next preceding such ending of the term of office in the following form: Shall Judge (here naming judge) have another term as judge of (here naming court)?

On such election no candidate shall be allowed to declare his candidacy for such position, but the sole issue voted on shall be whether the incumbent shall have another term, and if elected he shall continue in office another term.

Filling of Vacancies. Vacancies occurring from any cause (which includes failure of judge to be elected to another term) shall be filled as follows: (a) Vacancies on the supreme court shall be filled by appointment by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate. (b) Vacancies on the court of appeals shall be filled as follows: The supreme court shall nominate to the governor a list of not more than four, nor less than two, lawyers who, in the opinion of the supreme court, would make satisfactory appointments to the vacancies, and who, if elected, would accept the position if tendered. The governor shall appoint from such list.

(c) Vacancies on the superior court shall be filled in the same manner as vacancies on the court of appeals.

This plan eliminates the evils which are most objectionable in the present plan; it also meets the argument that the voters have a right to prevent reappointment of an unsatisfactory judge; and it also avoids any element of a recall by popular election. This is pointed out in the end sought by the committee in drafting a plan.

LAST CALL TODAY TO PAY CITY TAXES WITHOUT INTEREST

Unless the second installment of city taxes is paid today interest will be charged, the public was warned in a statement issued Tuesday by city tax assessors. Books for the second installment have been open for 10 days, but show that revenues are coming into the city treasury very slowly.

Total anticipations from general taxes have been set at $5,643,357.86 for the year but through last week only $1,691,876.54 had been received. The third and final installment will be due between September 1 and October 15.

ONLY FEW ACQUITTED IN FEDERAL COURTS

The United States district court for the northern district of Georgia tried 1,189 criminal cases during the fiscal year ending July 3, 1925, and in these cases only 127 were acquitted according to the annual report of Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney, made public Tuesday. The conviction amount to 89 per cent of the cases tried, which is the best record yet made by the district attorney's office.

On July 1, 1924, there were 2,001 criminal cases pending and on the same date this year there were only 1,853 showing a substantial decrease.

Program for Ceremonies At Roosevelt Boulevard Opening Is Now Completed

Holder and Broadwell
Added To List of Speakers—Broyles Made Master of Ceremonies.

The completed program for ceremonies at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the formal opening of Roosevelt boulevard and the christening of the new concrete arch bridge over the Chattahoochee river at Roswell was announced Tuesday following a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building. A Roswell delegation, headed by Mayor H. I. Weaver was in attendance.

John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway commission, and Colonel H. M. Broadwell, president of the Roswell Chamber of Commerce, were added to the list of prominent speakers at the event which includes Governor Clifford Walker and others. T. C. (Tut) Broyles, prominent Atlanta, was named master of ceremonies, replacing J. P. McGrath, of Roswell, who was called to Chicago because of a death in his family. Hugh Y. Stribley was appointed marshal of the day. The Atlanta secretaries' club is in charge of general plans.

Will Honor J. D. Wing.
Miss Virginia Wing, of Roswell, will place a wreath on the new bridge in memory of her father, J. D. Wing, former member of the Cobb county commissioners and one of the original leaders of the movement for the bridge and boulevard.

Rev. W. B. Stenz, pastor of the Roswell Methodist church, will offer the prayer.
Miss Margaret Carpenter, of Roswell, is to christen the bridge, using a bottle of Chattahoochee river water. That portion of the ceremony will be followed by the firing of three volleys in honor of Theodore Roosevelt by a squad of soldiers from Fort McPherson.

With the promise of fair weather a record-breaking delegation from Atlanta is expected at the event. The great motorcade will form in Burkhead at 3 o'clock and leave that point promptly at 3:30 o'clock, headed by Governor Walker and his party. The motorists will be met in Roswell by a reception committee composed of Mayor Weaver, Cobb county commissioners and the committee on entertainment.

Among honor guests will be Senators William J. Harris and Walter P. George and presidents of the principal civic clubs of Atlanta.

Picnic for 5,000.
Arrangements have been made to feed 5,000 people at a picnic at the Roswell public park. More than 100 huge, old-fashioned cakes have been baked and contract has been let for several hundred gallons of lemonade. Other refreshments have been ordered in proportion and there will be "enough and to spare" for everybody, it was announced.

Plans for decorations have been completed and flags and bunting have been draped over the bridge, along the road leading into Roswell, through the principal streets of the town and in the park. A large bandstand is in course of construction in the park. Dedication ceremonies will mark another epoch-making step in Georgia road building and another excellent highway will be formally opened leading from Roswell north to the country line. Recent improvements have been completed at a cost of $1,500,000.

SUSPENDED OFFICER AGAIN IS INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Raleigh, N. C., July 14.—(AP)—Jesse Wyatt, suspended Raleigh plain clothes policeman, was indicted early this afternoon for the second time on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of S. S. Holt, an attorney of Smithfield, N. C., on the Raleigh-Columbus highway June 1.

A former bill against the officer has been quashed on the technicality that the grand jury which returned it was selected from a list of jurors drawn by a boy over 10 years of age. The North Carolina law requires that the child drawing names must be under 10.

Holt was shot and killed as he was returning from the capital city to his home in Smithfield. The Raleigh officer is alleged to have fired on him when he refused to stop at his command to halt in order to permit a search of the lawyer's automobile for whisky suspected of being transported.

The officer was not in uniform at the time of the alleged shooting and a search of the automobile failed to reveal any whisky.

GIRL, 13, IS KILLED AND MOTHER HURT AS CAR OVERTURNS

Greenwood, S. C., July 14.—Evelyn Ridener, 13, was killed; her mother, Mrs. Adeline Ridener, was seriously injured, and four other members of an automobile party en route from Lake Hopatcong, N. J., to Lake Wales, Fla., were badly shaken up when the car in which they were riding fell over an embankment in Edgefield county this afternoon.

The girl was caught under the car and crushed to death while her mother suffered several broken ribs.

FORMER OFFICIAL OF MINE WORKERS TO BE DEPORTED

Pittsburg, July 14.—(AP)—Antonio Altapiedi, alias Tony Stafford, a former international board member of the United Mine Workers, today was en route to New York from which port he will be deported to Italy as an undesirable alien.

Altapiedi, known as Stafford in Beckley, W. Va., where he served as board member district No. 20, was convicted of having participated in a dynamiting of the E. E. White coal properties at Glen Whit in 1917. After serving five years in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville he was turned over to immigration authorities here. They recommended his deportation.

Standard Oil Adopts Eight-Hour Work Day In Mid-Continent Fields

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New York announces an eight-hour day, effective tomorrow, for its mid-continent oil fields.

Since the first oil well was drilled in this country in 1859, a 12-hour day has been in effect.

Drillers who receive $1 an hour or $12 a day will now receive $25 a day or $10 a day. Tool handlers who received $3 cents an hour or $10 a day, will receive $1 an hour, or $8 a day.

As work in the fields is carried on night and day, the 8-hour day means three shifts instead of two. The additional shift will require the employment of 500 men, besides the 1,400 now employed.

The 12-hour day will remain in effect in outlying districts where camps have to be built for workers, but the percentage of men employed in such camps will be small.

It is presumed that other camps in the mid-west field will follow the action of the Standard Oil company and that the 8-hour day will become universal in the oil industry.

SERVICE MEN DEFEND BUREAU IN ARKANSAS

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Director Hines of the veterans' bureau, announced today that he had received no complaints regarding the conduct of the regional office at Little Rock, Ark., criticism of which was voiced in resolutions adopted nearly three weeks ago at the convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at Omaha.

Mr. Hines said the convention's action in attacking the office as being run with internal strife and disorders and in charging James A. Winn, regional manager, with incompetence, had resulted in many communications to the bureau here commending the administration of the Arkansas office.

RIOT DUTY STUDIED BY STATE GUARDSMEN

Savannah, Ga., July 14.—Routine is the whole story of the encampment of the 121st infantry, more popularly known as the "Old Grey Bonnet" regiment. There was scarcely anything in the encampment today except the regular exercises of the day from "reville" to "retreat."

The most important subject taken up today was the lecture on riot duty by the commanders of the various battalions. Major F. A. Whitaker speaking to the first battalion, Major James L. Harwell to the second, Major James E. Kelley to the third and Major Usher T. Winslett to the fourth.

Combat principles for the rifle companies were taken up in the field and much progress was noted over the performance of similar nature at the first of the encampment. Rifle marksmanship was studied by the regular infantry companies. The usual close-order drill for the individual companies was held in the company streets of the camp.

The medical officers of the regiment addressed the assembled battalions on the subject of the care of the teeth. Rain interfered with the regular routine to the extent of preventing the regimental formation of "retreat." The parade had been scheduled for 6:30, but at that time it was raining slightly, therefore the formation was called off by order of Colonel Lewis Pope, commander of the regiment.

BALE OF PAPER KILLS MAN AT GORDON MILLS

Gordon, Ga., July 14.—J. R. Bell, until recently deputy sheriff of Wilkinson county, was killed while at work in the Penotree Paper Mills, at Gordon, Ga., today.

He was crushed under a 700-pound bale of paper which fell on him.

VARNADOE'S DEATH BELIEVED MURDER

Charges that Howell P. Varnadoe, Atlanta fireman, was "foully murdered" at Curtis Lodge, a resort near Atlanta, several weeks ago, were made Tuesday in a letter sent to Governor Clifford Walker by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, who asked the governor to offer a reward for the arrest of the alleged murderer. On receipt of the letter the governor offered a reward of $300 and this was supplemented by a reward of $200 offered by L. C. Varnadoe, father of the dead man.

In asking the governor to offer a reward for the arrest of the person or persons who are believed to have killed Varnadoe, the solicitor general is bringing to a close an investigation which has been made, quietly ever since the tragedy, it was learned at his office Tuesday.

Reconstruction of incidents in the case have sustained the theory held by the solicitor general's office from the start that Varnadoe was murdered and did not commit suicide, it was said.

The investigation disclosed that it would have been impossible for a man to have shot himself with the kind of pistol used and at such close range without inflicting powder burns, according to investigators in the case. Working on this theory much evidence has been woven together and pointed so strongly to murder in the case that the solicitor general asked the governor to offer the reward.

Investigators are continuing their work and have a well-defined line of clues they are following which they hope will lead to startling disclosures, they asserted.

When Varnadoe was found shot to death four people were taken into custody in connection with the case—Ed McConnell, Atlanta singer; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Curtis, operators of Curtis Lodge, and Marie Welsh, who is said to have accompanied Varnadoe to the lodge. They testified before a coroner's jury that Varnadoe shot himself and a verdict of suicide was returned by the jury.

In his letter to the governor Solicitor Boykin expressed the opinion that Varnadoe was murdered and suggested that the reward be offered so that the search for the murderer could be stimulated.

Varnadoe was a member of the Atlanta fire department. He went to Curtis Lodge on the night of the shooting with McConnell and Miss Welch. Near the end of the party the fatal shot was fired.

Governor Walker also issued rewards Tuesday for the arrest of Roosevelt James, a negro under death sentence in Pierce county, who escaped, and $250 reward for capture of the person who shot two county policemen at Pembroke, Ga., from ambush. The policemen are in a hospital in Savannah.

BIG STILLS RAIDED IN FLORIDA DRIVE

Jacksonville, Fla., July 14.—(AP)—Destruction of five stills, aggregating about 2,500 gallons in capacity, and a large quantity of small and spilt spirits and the seizure of a small automobile featured the activity yesterday of federal prohibition officers working out of the office here of H. L. Duncan, divisional chieftain. The raids were made in Duval county. The operators of the still escaped, but R. F. Penning was arrested on a liquor transportation charge when the automobile was seized.

U. S. Favorable Trade Balance of Over Billion

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—A favorable balance of $1,042,681,497 resulted from the foreign trade of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30.

The exports were valued at $4,857,654,344 and the imports were worth $3,814,972,847.

For June the figures showed an exact balance, both exports and imports were the lowest since November, 1924, while the exports were lower than any month in the fiscal year except July, 1924.

It was pointed out, however, that in June, 1924, the total imports were $274,000,000 and exports were $306,980,000, showing that June of the present year produced more trade than the same period in the preceding year.

Breaks Three-Year Record.
Both the imports and exports for the fiscal year exceeded those of any previous five years. The favorable balance was greater than that of any of the last three fiscal years although it was less than that for the year ending June 30, 1922.

In his foreword to the year-book, in which these figures were made public, Secretary Hoover cited that 1924 had been marked by very complete employment of the country's working force; that agriculture had experienced "some partial recovery from three years of extreme difficulty," that transportation efficiency had been high; that buildings and construction had established new records, and that the general production and distribution of articles for consumption had been measurably satisfactory.

There were some less satisfactory elements in the business situation, but the general results were held to be gratifying.

"The shipping industry shows some improvement in 1924," Mr. Hoover related, "although it has not yet reached a basis of stability. The textile industries experienced more idleness than other manufacturing industries. The bituminous coal industry is in great difficulties due to complex causes, partly the holdover from excessive expansion during the war. But generally we have few difficulties remaining which can be attributed to the effect of the war."

"Agriculture has been blessed with a shift in prices for the better, probably in a large way at least reflecting the fact that while the number of farmers in the United States has remained constant since 1914, the consumers have increased greatly. Wheat prices were no doubt helped by the subnormal crops abroad and corn prices by crop failures in certain states. By and large, the average prices of all agricultural products now approximate the general level of commodity prices. Some farm products, particularly cattle, are still below the normal relationship with other commodities but the shift is constantly in the direction of equality and gives hope for still better conditions for agriculture."

Foreign Trade Reviewed.
"Our foreign trade for the (calendar) year shows an increase over 1923 of 10 per cent in exports at 4,591,000,000 and a decrease of 5 per cent in imports at $3,611,000,000. The most permanently significant change in our exports movement was an increase of 7-1/2 per cent in manufactured goods as compared with the previous year."

Our merchandise exports exceeded our imports by $880,000,000.
The current items of "invisible imports" (that is, tourists' expenditure, immigrant remittances, payments for shipping, etc.) totaling about $1,180,000,000 in 1924, however, considerably exceeded the current "invisible export" (chiefly interest on foreign loans, etc., and receipts of our merchant marine) amounting to about $730,000,000. Nevertheless, a large fraction of the heavy merchandise balance in our favor was taken care of by our loan to foreign countries of nearly one billion dollars. We imported on balance about $258,000,000 of gold and there was some cross current of European capital toward the United States in the flight from the unstable currencies of foreign countries.
"The foreign economic situation still affects our international trade relations markedly, as indicated by the above movements during the year 1924. But greater stability has been attained in Europe, due to at least temporary settlement of reparations and especially to the more successful efforts of many countries at balancing of budgets and stabilization of their currencies."

EQUALIZATION FUND DISCUSSED AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., July 14.—(Special.)—More than 60 educators from all over the state were registered for the state school superintendents' conference by Tuesday, the second day of the meet, which is being held at the University of Georgia. Dean C. M. Snelling welcomed the superintendents to the city, with E. A. Pound presiding.

"What consolidation into junior and senior high schools has done for our state," the first topic, was discussed by Superintendents W. P. Morris, of Hart county, and E. T. Moore, of Sumner. They showed that consolidation has not only meant educational progress, but also improved roads for better transportation. J. P. Manly, of Spalding, and H. B. Carter, of Twiggs, spoke on "County unit bill," and sought to prove that the state school system was ripe for this unification.

The Barrett-Rogers act, and what it has accomplished, was discussed by R. D. Purcell, of Wayne, Hon. R. S. Fitzpatrick, of Twiggs, and J. T. Nelson, of Twiggs county, all of whom brought out that the bill has made possible better school equipment. Dr. J. S. Stewart, director of the summer school, showed the bill's beneficial effect on education in the weaker counties.

A motion was passed asking the legislature to increase the Barrett-Rogers fund from $200,000 to $300,000.

The afternoon session, with Tom Wisdom presiding, was taken up with discussion of the budget system and equalization fund. Jerry Wells, of Fulton; Bowers, of Decatur, and Wisdom spoke on the advantages of running the school on a business basis by means of a budget, and the best manner in which this could be done. Kyle T. Affridd, dean of Berea College, explained the "equalization fund," said its basis was levying tax on property wherever it was, and spending it wherever it was needed. Dr. A. E. Pound showed that it would greatly aid weak counties to get on their feet, after which they would no longer need assistance.

Discussion arose over the action of State Superintendent Land in presenting the bill before the legislature providing for the election of the members of the county boards of education by the people, instead of the customary appointment by grand jury.

E. A. Pound and Penton declared Land did this without consulting the Georgia State Educational Association. The discussion was put off until Wednesday, in the absence of Mr. Land, who is to arrive Wednesday.

JUDGE RAULSTON HOLDS UP DECISION

Charles Francis Potter, minister West Side Unitarian church, New York. Rabbi Jerome Mark, Bethel temple, Knoxville, Tenn.

Rev. D. M. Welch, Knoxville Unitarian church. Rev. Fred W. Hagan, First Congregational church, Huntington, W. Va. During the reading of this petition, Attorney General Stewart leaped to his feet with an objection.

"His honor has passed on this," Stewart shouted.

"He has not passed on this," Hays retorted, trying to proceed with his reading of the petition.

"I am addressing the court and will you keep your mouth shut?" Stewart shouted, white with anger and starting toward the defense table.

"I am making a motion and I insist on courtesy," Hays protested.

"I'll hear the petition," the judge interposed.

Hays Moves On. Concluding the petition, Hays moved that the court grant the request and "that on some occasion the prayers be made by men who think God has shown His divinity in the wonders of the world in the book of the revealed word."

Judge Raulston said he would refer this question to the ministerial association of Dayton, bringing loud guffaws from the packed courtroom and applause and stamping of feet.

"I will invite anyone they say," he said.

John R. Neal, of the defense, protested that the ministerial association here represented only fundamentalists, but the judge said he would stand by his plan.

It was just after this that the newspaper incident threw the courtroom into renewed excitement.

Judge Raulston had received word shortly after 2 o'clock that the International News Service was carrying a dispatch to the effect that the court had ruled against the defense motion to quash.

The judge called the court to order and said:

"I want to announce that I gave strict instructions to the stenographer my opinion was not to be released to any person or to give any information out. If any member of the press has any intimation as to what my opinion is, no person knows except myself and the stenographer, and sends it out before I begin to read it, I will deal with them for contempt of court."

Then after the incident regarding the prayer petition, the court announced he would withhold his opinion until Wednesday.

Report Secret. "I have been seated four hours in the preparation of the opinion," he said. "I gave it to a court stenographer in secret, with the instructions that no living person know anything as to the conclusion. I have reached until I had begun to read my opinion from the bench. I have not intimated to any living soul what my opinion was except to the stenographer who took the dictation."

"I am now informed that newspapers in the large cities are being now and then undertaking to state what my opinion is. Now any person that sent out any such information at this time without the authority of this court and if I find that any newspaper has done so, I shall deal with them as the law directs."

"Now on account of this improper conduct—of some person or persons—the court has decided to withhold his decision until tomorrow morning and tomorrow morning after the opening of the court the decision will be read."

"Now, when the crowd is gone from the courtroom, I want all the members of the press to meet me in this court room. I want to talk with them about this matter. If I find that some representative here has used any strategy or used any corrupt means or has in any manner secured my opinion, or as a result of it sent it out, I shall promptly deal with him and of course excuse him from any further presence in this court room."

After this he dismissed the court and tried to get the judge to take up other accumulated business but this was refused.

In the session with the newspaper men after adjournment, Judge Raulston read a message received by the United Press correspondent covering the trial. William J. Losh, which said that a St. Louis newspaper was carrying a dispatch to the effect that the law had been held unconstitutional.

"Now if this is a deduction, gentlemen, of course, they have a right to guess, so I think it is proper that I appoint a committee of press men to ascertain what these papers are carrying and ascertain if they are carrying this as a true story," the court said.

He appointed Earl Shaub, Universal service; Richard Beamish, Philadelphia Inquirer; Phillip Kingsley, Chicago Tribune; Forrest Davis, New York Tribune and Tony Muto, New York Bulletin. The committee questioned the International News Service correspondent as to what he had sent and where he obtained his alleged information.

All of this excitement was a worthy sequel to the dramatic effort of Clarence Darrow to prevent the opening prayer in court Tuesday morning. This move was made unexpectedly.

Probably there never has been such a unique fight in a courtroom as that staged by Darrow, the outspoken agnostic, wailing calmly into this robed of extreme fundamentalism and attacking the judge for permitting fundamentalists prayers in his court.

The Tennessee folk who packed the courtroom were aghast and plainly showed their sympathies by letting loose a torrent of applause when the judge declared himself a strong believer in prayer and announced he would continue to open his court with prayer.

DARROW OBJECTS TO COURT PRAYER

Mr. Darrow, in making his exception, said that he understood from the court that he had sometimes opened a court with prayer and sometimes did not.

"We ask no position on the first day, but seeing this is persisted in every session and the nature of this case has one where it is claimed by the state that there is a conflict between law and religion, above all other cases there should be no part taken, aside of the evidence in this case, at no attempt by means of prayer in any other way of influencing deliberations and consideration of the jury of the facts in this case."

Will Object to Prayers. "For that reason we object to the opening of the services with prayer and I'm going to ask the reporters to take down the prayer. We will make a written objection again to any such prayer as we think are especially obnoxious to our case."

Attorney General Stewart followed with an announcement that he had placed in the position in the record, "The state makes no contention," he said as stated by counsel, that this is a conflict between science and religion, so far as the merits are concerned. It is a case involving the fact as to whether or not a school teacher has taught a doctrine prohibited by statute, and we, for the state, think it is quite proper to open this case with prayer if the court sees fit to do it, and such an idea extends the religious counsel for the defense is foreign to the thoughts and idea of the people who do not know anything about infidelity and care less.

Reels Darrow's Views. Arthur Hays noted an exception to statement "agnostic counsel," which brought Dudley Field Malone to his feet to state that he respected the religious right to believe or not long as he was as honest in his belief as the speaker was in his belief.

Special of prayers in court, Mr. Malone said: "They help to increase the atmosphere of hostility to our point of view, which already exists in this community by widespread propaganda."

After discussion had been in full tilt some minutes, Judge Raulston suggested, "Gentlemen, do not turn this into an argument."

"This case says no doctrine shall be taught which is contrary to the divine and contained in the Bible," noted Darrow. "So there is no question about the religious character of these proceedings."

"This case has no purpose except to find fault and do justice to all the issues involved in this case," said Judge Raulston, closing the discussion.

Confused His Discretion. "In answer to counsel for the defendant, by my custom, I will say that during the several years I have been on the bench I have used my discretion opening the court with prayer."

"I have instructed the ministers who have been invited to my rostrum to open court with prayer to make no reference to the issues involved in this case. See nothing that might influence the court or jury as to the issue. I have in prayer myself, constant prayer divine guidance my constant prayer."

Size of Crowd Fails To Meet Anticipations of Dayton Folk

COURT ROOM, HOWEVER, FILLED TO SUFFOCATION

Courthouse, Dayton, Tenn., July 14. (By The Associated Press.)—Every available inch of space was occupied during the long hours of the trial of John Thomas Scopes for alleged violation of Tennessee's anti-evolution teaching act here today.

Although the visiting crowds ebbed and flowed in and out of the courtroom and the shady grounds, swirling eddies passing the limits of the courthouse lawn and collecting in talkative groups, the spectators' collection as a whole failed to meet the too sanguine anticipations of Dayton people. They came by hundreds, not thousands.

Of those who either came early enough, or were strong enough to push their way through the group that gathered about the courthouse, there was sufficient to occupy every seat in the room, block the aisles and jam five deep around the walls.

Overall occupied seats beside the latest design in men's wear; gingham sank into the auditorium chairs beside the more fashionable silks.

Although the Scopes case and evolution, with the trend always leading toward the conclusion of evolution, or attorneys in the case, visiting newspapermen and evolution.

Four policemen were kept busy in the courtroom, keeping the passage ways clear, or less persistent, were unable to find even standing room in the courtroom and massed around the amplifiers arranged on the courthouse grounds.

During the adjournment of court, scores of people waited for several hours in order to obtain advantage of the courtroom. Other less persistent were unable to find even standing room in the courtroom and massed around the amplifiers arranged on the courthouse grounds.

By the Norwegian Students' Association in the art of castigating Bryan. The association wired John Scopes, congratulating him "for teaching the truth, annoying hypocrites and fighting the good fight."

After Judge Raulston ruled that he would open court every day with prayer, Rev. Charles Francis Potter, Unitarian minister of New York, circulated a petition asking the judge to give representation to modernists, Jewish rabbis and Catholic priests as well as Protestant fundamentalists.

Someone asked Mr. Bryan if he believed that Joshua commanded the sun to stand still.

"I will always answer questions asked with an honest purpose," Mr. Bryan replied with some heat. "But somebody told you to ask me that question. It is asked with no other purpose than to insult me. I am getting tired of such treatment."

The former secretary of state turned and walked away.

Dayton was invaded today by a horde of chimpanzees, with a baboon here and there. Some are to be used for exhibition purposes, but most of their owners frankly have them in Dayton because this is a good place to get publicity. Pictures of the chimpanzees made in Dayton during the evolution trial will be great publicity after it is all over," said one showman.

Elevator Inspection

Decision Is Postponed

By House Committee

After hearing from both supporters and opponents of a bill to create a state bureau of elevator inspection, the special judiciary committee of the house asking the committee Tuesday night postponed final action on the measure until the next meeting.

The committee also postponed final decision on a bill introduced by the Fulton delegation to increase jurisdiction of the municipal court of Atlanta. Early in the meeting the committee voted favorably on this bill, but later, on motion of Representative Frank Hooper, of Fulton, reconsidered and set the bill for re-hearing at its next meeting.

Mr. Hooper stated that several Atlanta lawyers who were opposed to the bill had arrived after it had been approved, and he introduced his motion to reconsider in order that they might be granted the opportunity to appear before the committee.

Asa W. Candler, of the firm of Candler, Thomson and Hirsch, who appeared in opposition to the elevator inspection bill, stated that with the city elevator inspector and the regular quarterly inspection of all elevators by insurance companies which carried liability insurance on them, an additional state inspection was unnecessary. He said that fully 95 per cent of all elevators carried this liability insurance and thus were regularly inspected by the underwriters.

Louis P. Marquard spoke on behalf of the bill, stating that it was introduced as a measure to prevent building suffering from death and cited various instances of injuries in elevator accidents during the past 12 months.

Seven Scientists Ready at Dayton To Go on Stand

Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—(P)—Despite rumblings of an approaching storm, when efforts are made by the defense of John Thomas Scopes to introduce expert scientific testimony, seven scientists from different sections of the country tonight were in Dayton ready to testify when called.

Attorney General A. T. Stewart, leading the prosecution, already has announced that any attempt by the defense to introduce scientific testimony will be vigorously combatted.

Other scientists were expected to arrive tonight and still others are on their way to Dayton, members of the defense counsel said.

The experts themselves tonight were under instructions not to discuss the case. They said, however, that they were in Dayton prepared to testify when they were called.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE ON PEACE PROHIBITED

Innsbruck, Austria, July 14.—(P)—The second public meeting of the conference of the International League for Peace and Freedom, called for today, was prohibited by the Tyrol provincial government in order to prevent a repetition of disturbances such as marked the first public meeting last night, when German nationalist students prevented the speakers from being heard.

The German national party leader, Herr Peisbauer, stated today that the nationalist attack was not against the English and French speakers, as had been claimed, but against the German women delegates, principally Miss Milqu Jonash. He explained that Miss Jonash had published a book entitled "German war atrocities in Belgium with French subsidies," in which she sought to prove Germany's war guilt and the commission of atrocities in Belgium.

Four American women are among the 30 delegates to the conference, which opened last Saturday.

Wife Sees Husband's Body Dangling From Mule's Side

HALL COUNTY FARMER DRAGGED TO DEATH BY ANIMAL

Gainesville, Ga., July 14.—(Special.)—Funeral services for William E. McDaniel, 28, a tenant farmer of Tadmor district, living about six miles southeast of here, who was killed late Monday afternoon as the result of being dragged about a mile by a mule, from which he had fallen, will be held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning from the Old Springs church in Barrow county. The Rev. Ben McDonald officiating. Interment will be in the family lot in the Old Springs churchyard.

The funeral cortege will leave the McDaniel residence at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. According to Mrs. McDaniel, her husband had been in the field plowing, a thunderstorm was threatening and it is supposed the loud claps of thunder frightened the mule, causing it to shy, throwing McDaniel to the ground. The traces had been placed on the hames of the harness and one of the chains became entangled around the mule's right ankle. The harness string being tied, the mule dragged McDaniel a distance of approximately one mile, it is said.

Mrs. McDaniel, sitting on the porch of the residence, espied the mule dragging McDaniel, his body being severely lacerated, his neck broken and clothing badly torn. He was dead when his wife reached him.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by a son, Cleveland P.; a daughter, Florence, 3, and several brothers.

Nine hundred years is the total ages of Thomas Holmes, of Tinwell, Ireland, and his six brothers and five sisters.

STATE SANITARIUM RELIEF IS URGED

Congestion at the Georgia State Sanitarium at Milledgeville is extremely acute and conditions are rapidly becoming worse, according to the special report of the board of trustees of that institution submitted to Governor Clifford M. Walker. On June 17 of this year 4,600 patients were being cared for with facilities for but 3,791, and as a result of this crowding, two, three, and sometimes four people are forced to occupy a room, the report stated. In many cases it is necessary for patients to sleep on pallets, there being neither beds nor rooms for beds available, it is said.

The board of trustees offered two solutions for existing difficulties. The first of these is to establish elsewhere in the state a separate institution for the negro inmate to which all such patients now at Milledgeville could be removed. This would make buildings now occupied by them available for white patients after they had been renovated. It was pointed out that such a course would be advisable because the sanitarium could not wisely be allowed to become much larger than it is now. The estimated cost of such a plan is in a neighborhood of one million dollars.

The alternative proposition is immediate provision of three or preferably four new buildings at Milledgeville at an estimated cost of $1,500,000 each. In 1916 an appropriation of $300,000 was requested for erection of two new buildings. Of this amount $200,000 was granted, but due to conditions attached to the funds were not made immediately available and a smaller building than was first planned had to be erected, and this was immediately filled. The second building had to be built in piecemeal fashion as appropriations were made for it from time to time, and is only now ready to be occupied.

The report stated that this would help but not relieve present congested conditions and that it was still necessary for some definite steps be taken in the near future in regard to permanent relief.

Thrilling Chases Result in Capture Of Whisky Cargoes

Twenty-one gallons of corn whisky and a high-powered coupe were confiscated late Tuesday by detectives following a two-mile chase through the city over a circuitous route. The driver escaped.

The liquor runner abandoned his machine at the corner of North Boulevard and North Avenue when Detectives C. E. McVay and L. J. Brooks were within a block of him and gaining rapidly.

The detectives started the car at the corner of Ivy and Cain streets. Pursued hotly by the officers, the driver dodged his way through traffic to West Peachtree street, turned up Alexander to Peachtree, down Peachtree to Pine street, from Pine to Courtland to Harris, across Piedmont avenue to North Jackson, from North Jackson to North Avenue and then to the North Boulevard crossing, where he left his machine and made a successful dash for liberty.

In addition to the liquor charges, when he is apprehended the driver will find charges of speeding, reckless driving and violating the boulevard ordinance on five counts, his pursuers say.

County Policemen Dickerson and Vinson reported that they captured J. B. Marchman on the Simpson road after a chase of four miles and confiscated 28 gallons of whisky. Marchman, in his effort to lose his light touring car, roughly commandeered a bicycle at the expense of a negro boy, and continued his flight. This falling him, after he became tired, he set forth on foot and was finally run down by Vinson after a dash of four blocks, it was added. Marchman is said to live in Bellwood and is held in Fulton tower in default of $1,000 bond.

Federal Prohibition Agents Alfred and Goode and Deputy Sheriff Schilling were the principals in the other chase, which took place in the Ponce de Leon residential section. The result of their efforts was the capture of three prisoners and 12 gallons of whisky. The three men, Porter House, Paul Phillips and R. H. Brown, are held at the Tower in default of $1,000 bond each.

Thundershowers which Atlantans have been wishing for during the past week may break over the city this afternoon, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist in charge of the local branch of the weather bureau. There is, however, a joker in the forecast, for there is little or no relief from the torrid weather in sight, Mr. von Herrmann said.

Tuesday afternoon the temperature vaulted to a high mark of 94 at 3 o'clock. The low point of the day was recorded as 74 degrees. That variation in temperature, the forecaster said, may reasonably be expected today.

COMMITTEE CALLS FOR AMENDMENT TO DRAINAGE ACT

The county and county matters committee of the house Tuesday acted favorably on three bills by W. I. Dorris, of Douglas; one by Alex Lawton, Jr., of Chatham and three by W. W. Gill, of Bryan. All measures were of local interest.

Mr. Dorris' bills call for an increase in salary of the treasurer of Douglas county, and repeal of laws making it unlawful to hunt quail and fish in the county for a period of five years. Mr. Lawton's measure asks that the law creating the Chatham county commission be amended to allow commissioners to act as ex-officio judges. Mr. Gill seeks repeal of the law creating a treasurer of Bryan county; amendment of the law creating the board of commissioners, and permission to name a county depository.

The drainage committee acted favorably on an amendment to the drainage act of Georgia asking that the purchaser of drainage bonds in a district be protected to the extent that his lien shall hold against the property so drained. The state supreme court has ruled that the present law is defective and that bond holders cannot sell land against which bonds were issued. The amendment is intended to protect bondholders.

COOLIDGE IS SATISFIED WITH LEAGUE REPORTS

Swampscott, Mass., July 14.—The United States is watching closely the activities of the league of nations, even though there is little sentiment here now in favor of United States membership in that body.

President Coolidge let it be known Tuesday that the United States was receiving complete reports through its official representatives abroad, and especially from the American minister in Switzerland, who is stationed at Bern.

Approves Suggestions.
A speech by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, at the league, and interpreted as a suggestion that the minister to Switzerland be authorized to attend league meetings at Geneva, caused the executive's comment.

Mr. Coolidge believes that Butler's suggestions were sound in principle, but that there is no need to supplement the government's present avenues of information.

The president has decided to follow the workings of the Washington government more closely than he has during the first three weeks of his vacation. It was announced Tuesday that practically every member of the cabinet would call at White House during the six weeks before Mr. Coolidge will return to occupy his renovated White House and begin active work on his legislative program.

Plans Yacht Voyage.
Tomorrow (Wednesday), however, will be a real vacation day, with a trip on the yacht Mayflower, to Quincy, Mass., on which the president will be accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge and the news photographers, who so far have not been given a chance to follow the president as a mariner.

The trip will be made in the afternoon and the president will inspect the historic old Adams residence of presidential memories, as well as the docks, steel works, and an Argentine warship which are in Quincy harbor.

Gordon Water Firm Obtains Restraining Order Against City

Claiming that the city of Atlanta through the water commission is conducting its present showing in "parties" to tap its main on Gordon road without "authority or compensation," the Gordon Water company Tuesday secured a temporary restraining order in Fulton superior court preventing the city from granting any other concessions without first securing permission of the firm.

EARLY CONFERENCE SOUGHT ON CHINA

It is the intention of the conference to be held under the nine-power treaty should and will consider tariff questions, extra-territoriality and all other problems covered by the Washington agreement.

It was announced that the state department now is in communication with the various powers signatory to the treaty in an effort to make arrangements for the holding of the conference in Peking at an early date.

Leadership Is Realized.
While the president is hopeful for an early adjustment of conditions in China, it was said that he was withholding information to determine definitely whether conditions now are propitious for a wide range discussion of extra-territoriality and other questions as he and Secretary Kellogg hope.

The American government, it was stated, is trying to promote conditions that would warrant an early comprehensive conference and while it is in communication with all the powers which negotiated the Washington treaty, it realizes that Great Britain, Japan and the United States on account of their larger interests must be the last to be consulted as to the policy and procedure.

CHINESE FINANCER VISITOR IN NEW YORK

New York, July 14.—(P)—Warned by the Chinese minister to Washington against discussing China's politics or her relations with the powers, lest his views anger his radical countrymen here and in Europe, Lo Pa-Hong, chairman of the directors of the general chamber of commerce of Shanghai, was silent on such subjects as extra-territoriality when he ended a transcontinental tour today.

Mr. Lo said Dr. Alfred S. Sze had told him his opinion, those of a conservative business man, were likely to arouse antagonism from student and other Chinese agitators who advocated revision of China's treaties with the powers and caused trouble for him in his projected trip around the world.

Mr. Lo, who attended the national foreign trade convention at Seattle, was chief of the Shanghai delegation, is on his way to Rome, making a holy year pilgrimage and expecting to have an audience with the pope. As a devout Catholic, he deplored the fact that the anti-foreign agitation in this country had interfered with foreign mission work, but expressed the belief that in spite of sporadic attacks on missionaries, "God would take care" of them.

Dressed in the broad silk jacket and skirt, which is the formal attire of a Chinese gentleman, and six feet one inch tall, Mr. Lo is an imposing figure.

He is one of the outstanding men in modernized Chinese commerce, being managing director of the Chinese Electricity and Water company, which supplies power for a large part of Shanghai. Business conditions in China, he asserted, should return to normal within three to six months.

Agnes Callahan, 22, 11-Gaskill street; James M. Cook, 22, Decatur; George Anderson, 26, 232 Courtland street, and Paxton Burgin, 16, Asheville, N. C.

The quintet are held under charges of suspicion. Their arrests were the result of activities on the part of Detectives A. Lamar Poole and S. A. Smith, and E. W. Ginn and E. D. Meek.

Cook and Anderson were jailed by Detectives Meek and Ginn in connection with the theft of an automobile late July 4 from the state highway department. The car was recovered the same day that it was stolen.

"We have sufficient evidence to show that Anderson and Cook have been implicated in several recent automobile thefts and we expect to locate their confederates who aided in disposing of stolen machines," Officer Ginn stated.

Burgin is held in connection with the theft of a roadster belonging to Harry Helmar, president of the City Dairy & Ice Cream Co., which was recovered Monday night.

Officers declined to comment on the arrest Tuesday night of Vaughn and Agnes Callahan. "We will have something to say about their arrest Wednesday," Officer Ginn stated.

explained that the proposal is merely an enabling act and that any county which does not wish to enter into the county unit plan can stay out. This, however, failed to satisfy opponents of the measure, who obtained postponement of action. The measure will be taken up again at a meeting which will be called by Senator P. T. Knight, chairman of the committee.

Fort E. Land, Georgia state superintendent of schools, was present to approve several measures proposed in the interest of education. He expressed his appreciation of the attitude of the assembly towards educational matters and said that the committees are among the most important.

Probably the most far-reaching measure favored by the committee was one calling for establishment of a state superintendent of physical education. Mr. Maddox also was author of this measure, which was supported almost unanimously by members of the committee. The superintendent will have charge of enforcement of the state law requiring health education to be taught in public schools one-half hour daily. This will aid materially in correcting physical defects of school children of the state, it was pointed out.

Other bills approved are to abolish the special school district of the city of Nashville, introduced in the house by Representative Artie D. Tucker of Bergen; to amend the Bainbridge tax act, introduced in the house by E. H. Griffin and G. G. Bower, of Decatur; to amend the act providing a system of public schools for the city of Albany, introduced in the house by Cruger Westbrook, of Dougherty; to abolish the Warrenton, Ore., school system, introduced in the house by J. P. Wilhoit, of Warren; to authorize and require the legislature to make extra appropriations to the common school fund for the purpose of organizing educational opportunities to children of the several counties of the state, introduced by Senator Knight, of the sixth district, and to provide for the standardization of high schools of the state under control of the state board of education and to provide ways and means for this inspection, introduced by Senator A. L. Miller, of the ninth district.

Standardizing of high schools of the state is now supervised by a board of educators selected from the university of Georgia, Emory and Mercer universities. This board would be abolished under the provisions of the new bill.

All of the above bills, which originated in the house, will go to Governor Clifford Walker for his signature if the senate follows recommendations of the committee. They already have passed the house, it was said.

Commissioner Oscar Mills objected to the new figures on the grounds that charges for negro schools are lower than for white students but Mrs. Kate Green Hess, chairman of the committee, explained that their cost of instruction is less.

Mr. Mills also questioned the per pupil cost as shown by the report, stating that a report now being submitted by outside agencies will show vastly different figures.

The report, it is understood, is being prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and other interested agencies and deals with the entire school system.

Suspected Slayer Is Not Identified As Man Wanted

Minneapolis, N. Y., July 14.—Two hours and 15 minutes after Maj. William N. Hensley, commanding officer of Mitchell field, had received a message from Onondaga, N. Y., that a man resembling Philip K. Knapp, alleged "thrill murderer," had been taken into custody, aviators sent to identify the suspect reported that the man was not Knapp.

Lieut. Marion L. Elliott, the flying "ace," who had just aided in the search for Knapp in northern New York, flew to Onondaga, a village about 100 miles southeast of Albany, shortly after he had returned from his up-state expedition and cleared the search of suspicion before the search.

The rapid check-up of the up-state arrest demonstrates the efficiency of the airplane as an adjunct to the telephone in telegraph in tracking down criminals.

Both Lieut. Elliott and Sergeant Charles W. O'Connor were members of the Knapp aviation squadron, which Knapp was attached before he deserted. They knew him by sight and for that reason were ordered to "drop off" aid in the identification, although they had only just returned from Plattsburgh, N. Y., where they distributed photographs of the young eccentric who is suspected of the murder of Louis Dellino, Long Island taxi driver, on July 1.

Maj. Hensley had been informed of the arrest over long distance telephone late in the afternoon. The description of the man tallied so closely with that of Knapp that the airplane check-up was resorted to at once.

MURDER OF WOMAN REVEALED BY PHONE

phone calls of Tuesday, Mrs. Pohl said:

"About 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning I received a call from a man who told me to go to 164 Courtland street to see Miss Jackson. I went there and looked all over the place, but did not find Ruth."

"At about 8 o'clock Tuesday night I received another phone call. I recognized the voice of Charlie Carr and he told me 'This is Charlie talking. He said that Ruth was dead at 164 Courtland street, so I called for the police and went with them to the house and we found Ruth killed.'"

Mrs. Pohl said that Miss Jackson came to Atlanta about seven years ago from Norfolk, Va., and had lived here continuously since that time.

Story Told by Woman.
"Charlie Carr came to our apartment Monday night about 8 o'clock and asked me to invite Ruth Jackson over for a little while," the Kirbow woman told police. "He asked me, however, not to say anything about his being there as they had had a falling out some time previous."

"I complied with his request and Ruth came. She was very much surprised to see Charlie but didn't seem particularly angry, so I left them sitting in a front room talking. I couldn't hear all of the conversation, but I got the gist of it."

"After talking for some time Charlie informed Ruth that he had loved her once, but that time had passed. She said she didn't love him either. They talked for a while about different things and then Charlie turned to Ruth again and said, 'I believe I do love you a little.' She told him she loved him too and a short time later, about 9:30 o'clock, they left the house together."

"That was the last I saw of Ruth or Carr. I don't know anything more about it."

The young Kirbow woman first told detectives that E. D. Kirbow was her husband and that they had been married in Rome, Ga., four months ago, later, under grilling, she confessed that they had never been married, according to the police.

Carr and a companion had been occupying the downstairs apartment at 164 Courtland street.

Search for Carr.
"I am confident that the woman's lover is responsible for the killing," Detective McGee said Tuesday night. "We are prosecuting a vigorous search for him and expect to capture him at any moment."

Detective McGee stated that Charlie Carr is well known to police as a liquor-runner, and police records show that the Jackson woman had been arrested on charges of disorderly conduct several times in the recent past. He is expected to hold an inquest some time today.

JEWELRY AUCTION FRAUDS ARE HIT BY SENATE BILL

Fraud and deception at jewelry auctions in Georgia will be prevented by a bill favorably recommended by general judiciary committee No. 1 to the senate. Action was taken on the bill at a meeting of the committee Tuesday night at the Kimball House.

The bill, which is sponsored by the retail jewelers of Georgia, is aimed at jewelry auctions where large quantities of cheap goods are auctioned off at high prices, and replaced by new loads of goods.

George E. Daniel, of Marietta, a jeweler, and F. A. Hooper, attorney appeared before the committee in behalf of the measure.

The committee decided to recommend passage of a bill to pay a stenographer employed by the clerk of the supreme court and court of appeals a salary of $1,200 out of court costs. The committee decided to report unfavorably a bill which would amend an act so as to cut the discount of money lenders on loans less than $500 from 3 to 2 per cent. The next meeting of the committee will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Miss Marie New Winner in Emory Beauty Contest

Announcement Tuesday night of the election of Miss Marie New as "Miss Emory" for the 1925 summer school session was made to the student body gathered for presentation of Sheridan's "School for Scandal," a play staged by the Coffer-Miller players.

Miss New is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. New, of Dublin, and a niece of Representative Parker New, of Laurens county. She was president of the sophomore class at Wesleyan college last year.

The title of "Miss Emory" is conferred every year upon the winner of the annual beauty contest held by Emory Summer school students.

The contest for this year was closely disputed. Miss Margaret Garwood, daughter of Mrs. M. B. Garwood, of 837 West Peachtree street, won second place. Miss Garwood attends school during the winter at Bessie Tift college.

Miss Dora Ferrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ferrell, of LaGrange, came third in the contest. She is a southern circuit.

Death Precedes Operation For Infected Throat; Boxer Was Ill at Last Battle

San Francisco, Calif., July 14.—Far away in the Philippines a little brown girl who recently became the mother of a baby daughter probably has been advised by now that her childhood sweetheart, who went into the big white world of the west and became the first prize-fight champion of his race, has lost his title to death.

Pancho Villa, the undersized, perpetually tired Tuesday at the age of 24. To the last he was a victim of the criticism of the fight fan who knows that a man who has been in the ring a long time and who has never been knocked out is nothing more than an alibi. Pancho died from an abdominal wound, a blow which came upon him just before he fought Jimmy McLarnin at Oakland 12 days ago.

The final illness of the world's fly-weight champion had kept him in bed a day before his last bout and if he had remained there his small frame would have been a tragedy.

Tuesday, in which a part of the jaw which had withstood so many blows in the ring was cut away as a last resort and one of his wisdom teeth removed.

Villa had returned to his own country less than a year ago and while he was in the States he had a few girls who were described as his childhood sweetheart. Shortly after returning to the Pacific coast he was accused of having seduced the mother of a baby girl. While in the Philippines he fought two bouts and won both.

Wild in King.

Pilipino fight fans might not now be sorrowing over his passing. But Pancho, the brown boy who outfought the best at his weight in the islands and through the Orient and then

Through his career he had the reputation of a wild man in the ring and a good man in the street. He was born in the wilds of his native Isle. Aug. 1, 1901. He was only eight years old when Churchill, who was then a school rector, picked him out from the other native kids and started him on the road to fame as the champion ship many years later.

been suffering terribly as he entered the ring and it looked that way because he was ailing. He was ailing, I learned from the swift talk of the old man. But the young Filipino stood up for ten rounds, even though he lost the decision.

Then, Pancho, who discovered Pancho years ago in the islands and has since been his manager, explained at the time how it was with Villa. "He was ailing," Pancho said, "because he was the gamest little man I ever knew."

Most of the fans, skeptical to this sort of thing, snickered at Churchill's statement and Panchito went into the ring and fought on to his death. He was unable to leave the bay district, so serious was his condition, and the end came during an operation

Interesting Program To Feature Matinee At Howard Theater

One of the largest of matinee audiences is expected Saturday at the better films matinee, when the committee will present Jackie Coogan in "The Boy of Flanders," said by critics to be his best picture, and which is adapted from Quind's immortal little classic, "The Dog of Flanders," read and loved by millions of children the world over.

The famous dog who helps Jackie earn his livelihood as a milk peddler in the little old Dutch town, is none other than the famous Teddy, the Great Dane. Jackie, dressed as a little girl, a disguise he assumes in order to visit his little girl friend, is one of the funniest figures ever seen by his admirers, and though beset by all sorts of bad luck, Jackie finally triumphs, and all is well with him and his dog. This is the same famous picture by means of which Jackie raised thousands of dollars for the Near East relief, sending enough milk abroad to the starving little ones of those far-off countries, to save countless lives.

The delightful program Saturday, which will attract many parents as well as children, will also include a comedy, "Felix Full of Eight," and another of the educational "Secrets of Life Series," entitled "The Bee." These pictures, dealing as they do, with magnified insect life, have attracted many children and grown-ups from out of town also, who have heard how interesting they were.

Last, but perhaps most interesting of all, is the announcement made by Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, that Miss Katherine Jones, beloved little Atlanta girl, who has been her delightful gift of dances from time to time, and who returns now to Atlanta from her professional debut in the Belvedere picture house, will take part in the program Saturday morning, and later there will be a reception for her in the lobby, so that everyone can meet her.

SLAMS SALAAMS

By Louise Dooly

GOVERNOR McLean, in addressing the North Carolina Press association at the banquet given by the citizens Thursday night, took occasion to apologize to the ladies in his audience for discarding on so prosaic and mathematical a theme as the budget system lately introduced in the handling of the state's finances.

Balancing the budget, however, is an old problem to women. They have been at it as long as the men have; and if the women have had no system in household finances, at least they can take a kind of job's comfort that the men have been a mighty long time coming to it.

RESPONSIBILITY? Governor McLean modified this apology a bit by calling attention to the women's new civic responsibility and the obligation thereby entailed, that they must themselves about budgets and taxes.

We wondered if he were being merely polite, or if in reality he takes these new responsibilities of the women's as harder than the majority of the women do.

And the women are taking them just about as seriously in comparison with the short time they have had 'em as the men do, with their long years of what you might think would have cultivated a habit.

WHAT'S THE USE? We threatened not long ago to devise a personal budget.

Our income moved so much more slowly than our outgo that we thought the adoption of a budget system might help to stem the receding tide.

It was not a woman, but a man, who discouraged us hopelessly.

"Didn't you just say that you were not spending a cent more than you could possibly afford?" he questioned, and when we agreed—

"Then why," he said, "clutter up your time and your mind with unnecessary bookkeeping? If you are spending as little as you can, how can you spend less?"

That seemed reasonable. So we are just contenting ourselves with thinking what a good thing a budget system is for the state.

NO IMMUNITY. And speaking of women's problems, it is remarkable how many they have which they just suffer patiently, and even at times in silence.

There was Consuelo Vanderbilt the other day, when she landed in New York after a trip to Paris. She was wearing—doubtless with some pride—a yellow gown which she had purchased with the practical guarantee in Paris that it was the only one of its kind. At the foot of the gangway she was confronted by a fascimile of her own "model" worn by one of her friends.

Consuelo, it is related, was agitated, but her mother counseled that she strive for a philosophy to bear up under such shocks. Even the most

SUFFERING FOR AN IDEAL

In a smaller way, there was our own suffering from a Spanish comb on the night we listened to the address of Governor McLean above quoted.

This comb fate sometimes enables us to adjust in such manner that it is both comfortable and, we flatter ourselves, becoming. At other times chance permits that it be only becoming.

On the occasion alluded to we had not achieved comfort, and we failed to suffer in silence.

"Why," was the unimaginative suggestion made to us, "don't you take the comb out?"

Any woman will know why we didn't. The comb is a part of the completeness of the costume. We are not entirely free of idealism, and we cannot bear to disturb completeness.

DESTROYING AN ALIBI. The women of Athens, Ga., are not only unwilling to hear silently their anguish, but they are going direct to Uncle Sam to solve their present problem.

"Athens women," states a news story, "are getting exasperated at missing social functions through the neglect of their husbands to deliver the invitations." These, when they are directed to the men's offices, are never brought home. Consequently the wives know nothing of them.

So the wives, through their club, have resolved that the Athens postmaster be requested to deliver at the home address all mail directed to "Mr. and Mrs.," even though the envelope bears the office address.

This we should call a masterly move. Of course it may be a little hard that the season happens to be summer when statistics as to the number of evenings in the week the "lax" has to be "dommed" are going to shoot up like the mercury in June.

But if men were not the slaves they are to their tailors and fashion makers, they would long ago have asserted themselves and devised an evening garb for summer time which more nearly approaches the comfort of women's clothes.

A FLOURISHING INDUSTRY. PRETTY Mrs. Smith parked her car and joined the rug-makers on the veranda.

"Put not your faith in men's gallantry," she said with deep feeling, as she pulled off her hat—and needless to add—fluffed up her hair.

"What's the matter? Did a policeman smile at you and then give you a copy of charges?"

"It was more subtle than that," sighed Mrs. Smith. "I had a lot of things to do around X street, and I was in a hurry, so I parked my car in the place most convenient to me, which happened to be in front of a store. While I was locking the car a nice-looking man came out of the store, and very politely he said: 'Aren't you afraid to leave your car here? Won't you get in trouble? You know the parking law—'

"Thanks, but I don't want to know anything about the parking law. I'm in a hurry, and I've just got to leave my car right here, because it is convenient. I'm a transient, and I'm not supposed to know all the ins and outs about your traffic regulations."

"But if a policeman sees you—"

"I shall hope he won't. Anyway, I'm going to take a chance, because this is where I want to leave my car." The man laughed, and "I wish you ask and I'll try to look out for you," he said, as I started off on my errands. I was gone 20 minutes, I suppose, and when I came back nothing had happened. While I stored my bundles in the back seat the man came out of the store again.

"Well, you're all right," he remarked cheerfully. "Do you always come out so well?"

"I do have some luck," and I began to unlock my car. "I'm interested in business investments," he went on conversationally. "I just wish I had some of it."

"Oh well, I've had a little," I admitted, failing for his complimentary comments on my investment instincts.

"Well, with your luck, you certainly ought to buy some lots out at the Isle of Hope—that new subdivision at the bend in the river. It's one of the best investment projects in western North Carolina, and with your luck, anything you buy there would make you a tremendous profit. I'm interested in that section, and I'd be glad to drive you out."

Now, what do you think of that? And I had allowed myself to be set up over his flattery about my luck! Subdivision? Ugh, I hate the word.

WASHINGTON MAN MAY DIE OF FALL TO CONCRETE FLOOR

Washington, Ga., July 14.—(Special.)—While engaged in cleaning a water tank this afternoon at the Pope Manufacturing company, C. A. Maass, superintendent of the ice plant, fell from a ladder to the concrete floor, receiving a base fracture of the skull from the effects of which he may die.

He was rushed to the Washington hospital in an unconscious condition and examination disclosed that he has small chance of recovery.

Mr. Maass narrowly escaped death one week ago, when he was struck by a pipe while engaged in repair work about the ice plant and had just returned to work when today's accident occurred.

Quitman, Ga., July 14.—(Special.)—City Manager Finkler announces that the supplementary deep well in Quitman has been completed at a total depth of 600 feet, and within 20 days more, sparkling drinking water will be furnished from the subterranean artesian cavity to the people of Quitman.

The well is a 10-inch bore. The drill struck at 50 feet and from 50 to 600 feet level went through solid rock, 578 feet. At a level of 652 feet, an apparently boundless supply of water rose to within 85 feet of the top, and the well has a capacity of 760 gallons per minute.

Mrs. J. L. Skinner Writes Prize Winning Essay in Decatur

Mrs. James Leigh Skinner, second vice president of the Decatur Fine Arts club, who is a successful amateur writer.

Mrs. James Leigh Skinner, had the honor of writing the prize-winning essay in a recent short essay contest held by the Decatur Fine Arts club. The subject discussed was "The Civic Value of the Fine Arts." The judges in the contest were D. F. Stevenson, Hooper Alexander and William Cole Jones. Mrs. Skinner received as a prize a beautiful pair of silver candlesticks.

The Fine Arts club of Decatur was organized in May, 1924, with Miss Adelaide Evechart, as president; Mrs. Charles J. Metz, vice president; Mrs. John T. Scott, second vice president; Mrs. J. Curtis Thomson, secretary; Miss Isabel Footman, treasurer, and Mrs. Milton Scott, treasurer pro tem.

The original purpose of the club is to promote the fine arts—literature, music and art. It is primarily a cultural club and to encourage the arts in the community, and for the good of humanity.

The club is sustained by dues exclusively, and their principal work is promoting the Decatur Fine Arts club summer art school.

The present officers of the club are Miss Adelaide Evechart, president; Mrs. John T. Scott, first vice president; Mrs. James Leigh Skinner, second vice president; Mrs. J. Curtis Thomson, secretary; Mrs. William Blodgett, corresponding secretary, and Miss Isabel Footman, treasurer.

Following is the prize-winning essay, written by Mrs. Skinner:

The Civic Value of the Fine Arts. "Beauty is as practical as health." In modern construction the sacrifice of beauty to economy too often produces actual loss of value by resulting grotesque or repulsive appearance

TECH ASKS $191,000 FOR WORK NEXT YEAR

An annual appropriation of $191,000 for the coming two years is asked of the legislature by the Georgia School of Technology in the annual report of President M. L. Brittain to Governor Clifford Walker. During the current year the institution received an appropriation of $25,000.

During the year the school handled $57,122.96, it is reported. Included in this amount was $7,056.77, the balance on hand at the time of the last report. There was paid out during the time in carrying on the operations of the school $50,066.19, leaving a balance in the treasury at the time of this report of $4,056.73.

A total of 2,320 students were enrolled last year in the institution. There has been no cessation of the steady increase in attendance that has marked the progress of the school for several years, the report said, adding that the reputation of the institution has gone throughout the country, and its graduates by their success have contributed to carrying its name in every direction.

COOLIDGE EXPECTING BUREAU LEGISLATION

Swampscott, Mass., July 14.—(AP)—Still hopeful that congress will approve the administration's plan for reorganization of government departments, President Coolidge believes that this proposal goes into the fundamental reasons for a shifting of bureau activities.

Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that the several executive orders issued giving the commerce department additional functions did not go into the matter fundamentally and that there must be legislation authorizing reorganization on a big scale.

DRY AGENTS ORDERED TO USE OWN NAMES San Francisco, July 14.—(AP)—United States District Judge John S. Partridge handed down a decision today permitting the suppression of evidence in every case where, "under cover," prohibition agents have used a fictitious name in signing a search warrant against a suspected liquor dealer or consumer. More than 1,000 liquor cases here are affected.

without distinct loss. Frequently local color constitutes a large part of the value as in the 'Lion of Lucerne.' This is particularly true of civic art as expressed in historic or patriotic memorials which stir the pride of those who know. Our Washington monument and in Paris Le Arc de Triomphe their name is legion, their influence world-wide, their fame immortal, their fascination universal, these tokens of devotion. The adaptations of the memorial to libraries, buildings, boulevards, fountains, fill an old need for a living, growing expression of pride and gratitude.

Memorials Benefit Community. "These memorials in turn are a benefit and benediction to those about them and a practical valuable asset. An entire city may be reborn to joy and pride through the knowledge and application of art. Wisely adapted, the fine arts elevate civic life, stimulating intellectual attainments, increasing the city's beauty, attracting visitors, future citizens of desirability. Consider the treasures of Europe and their admiring throngs."

"Hence, art is creation. These three: Information, Inspiration, Creation, impose the obligation of accomplishment and arouse our civic-conscience to a sense of responsibility. Hearken, hearken. Shall we hear the laughing river and our brothers sighing over, and not the voice of God?"

Music Stirs Imagination. "Music, soothing the soul, stirring the imagination, expressing the emotions, uniting, expanding, compelling, fulfilling, is a priceless possession. Every civic center acknowledges the practical value of music. Every civic center that has music excels every one that has not, either as individual or community attainments. Civic pride swells as high over a town as over a new fire engine. A community chorus is better. Music is inspiration.

"Marcus Aurelius urges that elevation of mind that enables seeing what is true, and having it as the whole. So with works of art. A painting or sculpture cannot be detached from its creator's motive

BEAUTY CHATS

EYES AND TEETH. If a woman has beautiful eyes, most other defects of feature will be forgiven. See that the skin around the eyes is firm and smooth. Wrinkles do not by any means spoil the eyes' beauty, indeed a few lines add to the expression and character. Women nearing middle age often have more beautiful eyes than young people because they have lived and developed and their minds are more interesting. Use your eyes. Look at people when they talk to you, eyes that always look down or elsewhere give no impression but one of shiftness. Even if you must stand by your mirror and practice an artificial lighting up of the eyes, do so. Don't use your eyes foolishly; don't by any means look affected, this is bad taste and worse.

Take good care of your eyes.

It hardens in a gray, white, or yellowish substance around the necks of the teeth; and when it becomes very hard it works up under the gums. This sets up an irritation, pus pockets form, the gums shrink, pyorrhea develops and eventually the teeth have to come out. The dentist will scrub the teeth with a revolving brush and some wet pumice, making them beautifully glossy and white and 100 per cent im-

RELATIVES ATTACK M'CLELLAN WILL

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—Contesting relatives of the late William N. McClellan opened an attack on the execution of the McClellan will when it was offered for probate here today by William Durling Shepherd, principal beneficiary. Under the will Shepherd, recently acquitted of the murder of McClellan, receives the bulk of the "millionaire orphan's" $1,500,000 estate.

Cross examination of Shepherd's first witness, Marie Gartner, disclosed the purpose of the contesting cousins was to show that one page of the document might have been inserted subsequent to the signing and witnessing. Orville Taylor, counsel for the cousins, called attention to alleged differences in the handwriting of the testator's signature on the first and last pages.

Marie Gartner, a former domestic in the McClellan home, and one of the two witnesses to the signature of the will, admitted on the stand that she did not read even the clause directly above her signature and did not know the provisions of the instrument except that she thought she remembered a reference to McClellan's "ancestors." Miss Isabelle Pope, "I didn't look over the will," said the witness. "I asked if she recalled any phraseology in the will to warrant the assurance that the document offered in court was the same she had witnessed, she mentioned her possible memory of a reference to Miss Deane but was not sure she had seen such a reference."

Then the witness was given a test in reading. She showed embarrassment, laughing and coloring, and at length deplored, saying, "I can't read." Then she attacked the difficult legal text, laboring over the long words and halting at the unusual words.

She denied telling "girl friends" that she had signed the will at the request of Mrs. Shepherd and not of James Hamilton Lewis, former senator, made his first appearance in the case and excited speculation among lawyers for both sides. He said that he would be added to the number of attorneys opposing Shepherd, but declined to name his clients, saying they would file a contest later.

OREGON WORKERS VISIT GOVERNOR IN RACE TROUBLE

Salem, Ore., July 14.—(AP)—Grievances connected with the employment of Japanese labor at Toledo by the Pacific Spruce corporation mill were voiced by a delegation from the Citizens' league of Toledo which called on Governor Pierce and United States Senator McNary here.

The delegation blamed the management of the mill for the conditions there, pointing out that the Japanese were hired on the Green chain gang at $2.40 a day, whereas white laborers had received $3.50. Men who protested against the use of race tests were discharged, it was asserted. Reports of the disturbance Sunday, when a riot broke out in the streets, were taken out of the city in trucks, were exaggerated, the delegation told the governor and senator. It was admitted that the mill for the time being had a few Japanese guards at the mill and that there were a few fist fights. The Japanese workers were not touched except by being thrown in jail, which was being done by the police. Men given transportation to "oravills."

Car Rebuilding Firms Protest Competition Of Railroad Lines

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Seven car-rebuilding firms protesting against the rebuilding of freight cars by the interstate commerce commission, saying they would file a contest later.

They charge that because a railroad can assure its own shops a monopoly of its own work, a situation results which eliminates competition and does not encourage economy. The accounts prescribed by the commission and kept by the carriers, they held, do not show the true costs of those manufacturing operations and make it impossible for the commission or the railroad to determine what such work should cost. The car rebuilding companies last week to return home with their transportation could be drained away by this incidental work in railroad shops and that the accounts in their present form would conceal the loss. A specific request is made for a revision of the carriers' accounting system to a basis which "will show true costs for these operations."

If the carriers build excess shops for car repairing and construction, the petition contends, these shops are not likely to be permitted to stand idle and they will bar the placing of the work at outside shops even though it may be equipped to handle them more economically. To keep such shops occupied, manufacturing operations would be extended to still other items which specialists now make, the car builders assert, thus perpetrating "a policy of duplication, taking business away from those who originally earned it by efficient service, and eventually making a railroad a mammoth of unrestricted activities."

WORK ON MACMILLAN SHIP GOING FORWARD

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—The work of raising the Macmillan Arctic expedition's ship Bowdoin to repair its broken propeller is going forward at Hopkinton, Labrador.

This information reached the National Geographic society here today in a radio message from Commander Donald B. Macmillan, the expedition's chief, who put back after the propeller was damaged.

The Bowdoin anchored at Hopkinton last night and by difficult work has been grounded.

"We draw 10 feet of water," Macmillan said, "and there is a rise and fall of tide of only 5 feet here. We shall shift all weight forward and raise the stern as high as possible. The height of the tide is increasing every day, which is encouraging. We may be delayed a few days in starting for Greenland."

Raleigh, N. C., July 13.—Fire, which broke out in an uptown picture house, swept across the business section of the city early this morning, spread across an entire block and is still raging. Five business houses are already completely destroyed, and a whole block is threatened.

Firemen fighting the flames were handicapped in their efforts by the dense smoke that filled the streets, over the tops of buildings and streets.

She said today that she had been unable to raise the amount of her husband's fine. She went to Atlanta last week to return home with her husband when he was released, but when she found that he would not be free until the fine was paid she came back alone to make efforts to raise the $10,000.

At the time of their arrest both Kessler and Sweetwood were reported to have been very wealthy.

The warehouse contained several thousand casks of potatoes and mill machinery.

PIERCE OFFICIALS NAB PARTY OF GAMBLERS

Waycross, Ga., July 14.—(Special.) Ware and Pierce county officials last evening raided a gambling dive, operating within a hundred yards of the main highway connecting this city with Blackshear, and arrested several men.

THOMASVILLE REPORTS FINE TOBACCO CROP

Thomasville, Ga., July 14.—(Special.) The recent curings of tobacco are coming out of the bars in fine shape and the quality is excellent on the third period. The poundage will exceed the original estimate and the crop is larger in pounds than predicted. Some growers have made five or six curings, their barns being filled at every curing and the fields of tobacco do not look as if they have been touched. The Thomas county tobacco has been pronounced as among the best in quality in the district.

Thomasville is getting ready for the influx of tobacco people and a number are now making reservations for hotel and living accommodations. They will be extended the courtesies of the Country Club, Y. M. C. A. and given open invitations to the weekly luncheons of the Rotary and Lions clubs.

The warehouse here is open and is receiving tobacco for the opening of the market on July 28.
